400,000 Lampions Were Ordered McKane's Republican Friend Aids for the Columbian Pageant.

Contractor Olifers Worked Hard to Get Them Out.

The Order Was Changed to 40,000, to His Great Loss.

A blunder in connection with the mangement of the Columbian night pageant, which may cost somebody about ing of the Board of Estimate to-day.

Lawyer John Brooks Leavitt appeared before the Board as the representative of B. J. Olifers, who had the contract to Mr. Leavitt said that on Aug. 26 his client received a letter from the Art Committee of the Columbian Committee of One Hundred, directing Mr. Olifers to furnish 400,000 "lampions," with tallow and wicks complete. The order was signed by C. G. F. Wahle, as Secretary signed by C. G. F. Wahle, as Secretary of the Committee. The letter concluded with the following admonition:

Don't tesil us that you can't get these out on time. We must have them.

The size of the order at first dazed Mr. Olifers, but he lost no time in getting to work. He at once contracted for the whole 400,000 lampions, and erected sheds on his premises in which to store the big lot of illuminators as they were finished.

On Sept. 1, five days after he had received the order, Mr. Olifers got a letter from Mr. Wahle stating that there had been a mistake, and that only 40,000 lampions were wanted.

Glasses, wicks and tallow for the 400,000 been a n.lstake, and that only 40,000 lampions were wanted.

Glassea, wicks and tallow for the 400,000 lampions had already been bought by Mr. Olifers, and the people with whom he had contracted for the other parts of the lampions had be'n working night and day to turn them out.

Of course there was a great hustling to cancel orders, but Mr. Olifers was successful in getting rid of only 200,000 of the fancy lamps.

The 40,000 were furnished to the Art Committee at $80 a thousand. There is still $10,806.50 due Mr. Olifers on the original order.

Lawyer Leavitt announced that should the city refuse to pay the claim he should bring suit against Art Committeemen Belmont, Hoge and Chanler, who, although not constituting a quorum of the Committee, passed the resolution ordering the 400,000 lampions.

SLY HOLE-DIGGERS, THEY.

While the Women Went to Complain, the Pole Was Put Up. NEWARK, June 13.-Miss Carrie Dunn imitated Mr .Russling, of Trenton, yesterday in attempting to prevent the erection of poles in front of her parents' property in South street. The Newark Electric Light and Power Company, without securing per-

Power Company, without securing permission, started to erect an electric light pole. Miss Dunn objected, but the men paid no attention. Finally she took a chaid, and, placing it over the excavation which was being made, sat upon it and refused to move.

The foreman of the workmen then went in front of the building next door and began to dig another hole for the pole. The women objected there, and the foreman told them that if they went to the office of the company the work would be stopped. A delegation of women went to the office, and were referred, to the Street and Water Commissioner. When they returned they found the pole up and the light burning.

have ordered 1,800 new electric lights for various parts of the city.

Of this number 509 were engaged from the Edison Company and only about 200 from the Citizens' Company, In old days, when the McLaughlins and the Garrys were in power, at least 700 of the 1,800 lights would have been ordered from the Citizen Company, owned by the politicians, which had a monopoly on streetlighting contracts south of Broadway.

The Edison Company, however, now has the right to furnish all the lights to the city wherever its lines extend.

About 500 lights of the Citizens' Company will be shut off to-night and 500 Edison lights will be turned on instead. A large force of men is at work daily erecting poles and lights in the district of the Citizens' Company.

Chancellor McGill Says Teey Can . String Wires Without Consent. TRENTON, N. J., June 13.-Chancellor McGill has rendered an opinion that the electric railway system is nothing more than a modification of the horse railway system, and that the companies operating such roads have the right to erect poles on the edges of sidewalks, and string wires on such poles without the consent of abutting property owners and without paying the latter anything in the way of compensation.

The sidewalks he helds are positive.

THE SECOND APPEAL.

Now Uncle Russell Wants a New

Laidlaw-Sage Judgment. I'me second appeal of the case of W. Laidlaw against Russell Sage came before the General Term of the Supreme Court to-day. The case was sub-mitted without argument on the print-ad records.

Laidiaw was a broke's clerk, and in Mr. Sage's office when Norcross, after demanding a million dollars, dropped a dynamite bomb. He was badly injured by the explosion, and brought suit against Mr. Sage for $50,000 damages, allering that Mr. Sage had pulled him between Norcross and himself for protection.

tween Norcross and nimself for protection.

On the first trial Justice Andrews dismissed the complaint at the conclusion of the testimony of the plaintiff's side. An appeal was taken to the General Term of the Bupreme Court and luntice Andrews's ruling reversed.

The second trial of the action was beore Justice Patterson and a jury, and suited in a verdict in favor of Laidaw for $15,000. The sum of the judgment entered under the verdict, including costs and allowances, was $25,578.00.

Although a Republican, Mr. Stratton appeared in behalf of George W. Roderick, a Democrat, but McKane's counsel. He told the Committee that the ballot at Gravesend was pure, and that he knew of no fraud existing there last election day. He assailed the character of Kenneth F. Sutherland, and told the Committee that he did not believe a word of Sutherland's confession, read by Deputy Attorney-General Edward M. Shepard yesterday.

When questioned about the vote in Gravesend Mr. Stratton could not explain how 3,000 votes were cast at the general election for the Constitutional Delegates and only 2,000 at the Spring election in April, Mr. Stratton, as a member of the Republican General Committee, procured the watchers' certificates last election, which John Y. McKane claimed gave him the right to ignore the mandate of Justice Harnard with that famous expression: "Injunctions don't go here, see."

Sheriff Buttling, of Kings County, was also a witness before the Committee this morning. He testified that he had issued the watchers' certificates for Mr. Stratton.
